Comments: Is nothing sacred anymore?

I grew up on the Rosebud Sioux Reservation. I was able to attend cultural camps growing up, multiple at the Pe'Sla. You will get many comments from others that know the history and significance much better than I. This project will ultimately make people out of state all the profits.but take away from an area that is sacred to the Lakota people. Our voices and concerns must be documented these days and I only hope to add my voice of many rejecting this project.

Respectfully
