Comments: The Black hills were never sold, and any construction in the Black Hills are disturbance of sacred sites. The Black hills, especially in Pesla area is a cultural landscape you cannot draw a polygon around one particular site. It is the whole area which is a cultural district. Any drilling or mining within or around this area disturbs the view shed and as a detriment to the Dakota Lakota people amongst other tribes. I'm totally opposed to any exploration or drilling within the Black hills.
