Comments: I fully support this project. The Herbert Trail is an excellent multi-use trail and would provide an easily accessible cabin to the community. The location is stunning, the infrastructure is already in place (good trail), and there are some great locations that could be developed with minimal impact on the ecosystem.

The Herbert river is also a great whitewater run, and members of the whitewater community here in Juneau regularly use the Eagle Glacier Cabin to overnight before running the Eagle river back to the road. This could be used in much the same way and would benefit packrafters in Juneau and Southeast Alaska.
