Comments: this land is rightfully theirs for their tribal needs - to pay respects to their cultural heritage.

We need to acknowledge these rights and allow for them to use this land as other tribes have freedoms for their sacred lands.

The US has not stood by so many treaties, we cannot continue to ignore the needs of native peoples/ nations who have been here much longer than the majority of us. This land needs to be protected and we, out of respect, need to honor their wishes. They truly care for the land and it is sacred to them. My mother's side of my family was raised in South Dakota.

It is very important to them

Haven't we already taken enough from them? seriously ...
