Comments: Please find somewhere else to drill. The united states has a long and shameful history of desecration of indigenous sacred spaces. We can do better. The current administration has removed roadblocks, opening a path to further damage the earth, but that doesn't mean it's the right thing to do. Honor our treaties, our forests, and people's health and leave this place unviolated. I lived in SD for 15 years and spent time up there in the pesh-la. Maybe you should, too, not a a scout to determine where to drill, but as someone willing to listen to the land.
