Comments: They have identified 18 drill sites with an estimated depth of 1000 feet. They are attempting to have it designated a Category C, which basically means no oversight. No cultural monitors on site. The drill sites are so poorly marked as to make it extremely difficult to locate. To date there are over 250 comments submitted. Many of them landowners in the Pe Sla area, most of which are opposition of the drilling. Land back. the water is sacred. The land is sacred
