Comments: Its outrageous - US government has not yet broken ALL treaties and contracts with Native people - and now is at it again, in 21st century, after all they have already done, killed, and discriminated.

So, now you are going to exploit and destroy their last bits of land? Really?

Destroy by the way your own water, air and forest resources you might need later on for your own survival? Are you even too dumb to see THAT?

Even if you feel that "manifest destiny" allows you to push over all native land and people (which I think is sheer bigotry)?

I know you are at it in several states now, and now you want it ALL, NOW and for good?

Hello here from Germany, hope you feel shame for your greediness and bigotry and think it over again.
