Comments: The sacred land should not be touched. This line is for praying and healing for lakota people, the Lakota people do not believe in destroying Mother Earth for man's benefits. This is why generations they always been trying to rip little by little, taking the land from the Lakota people, they should respect the Lakota people and the Native Americans, and leave them alone? as a father of a Lakota son. I want him to have a better life for the new generations.
