Comments: Regarding the Rochford Mineral Exploratory Drilling Project #67, it is shocking to learn that the Forest Service is considering such an environmentally disastrous drilling project in the precious Black Hills of South Dakota.

Where is the Environmental Impact Statement for such a project?

An Environmental Impact Statement MUST be presented before such a decision is even considered.

There WILL be land and water pollution and destruction. It is highly likely that this "exploratory" project will not be worth the problems it will cause.
