Comments: This land where this project is proposed is sacred to Lakota, Dakota and the people of other Indigenous tribal nations. These peoples do not want this project in the area. Therefore proceeding with this project would violate their right to free, prior and informed consent (FPIC). The project should not be approved. Furthermore, full management of the area should be turned over to local Indigenous people who can decide how it is used and protect it from any and all future exploitative extraction projects like this one.
