Comments: Do not allow drilling in this sacred site. The environmental damage and furtherance of our climate situation is unacceptable but the cultural disrespect is deplorable. It would be an embarrassment to the forest service to allow such a thing. You can expect resistance at every step if you move forward with drilling this place and it is likely that you will bear the same curses moving forward as the greedy oil companies. If you have any sense, or dignity as people you will spare yourself, your legacy, and the generations that come after you for what you are bringing on them.
