Comments: My family here doesn't want this project happening on their lands and polluting the area. Living will be made even worse for Native Americans. Mining deteriorates the entire ecosystem surrounding it and creates pollution that impacts plant life, animals, the earth itself as chemicals and runoff leech into it, and the area's water. Mining hardly benefits the average worker that can be provided a job. Mining is only profitable in the short run for a few people at the very top of the industry's hierarchy.
