Comments: Drilling on this land is a not only going to cause irreparable environmental damage, it is also a direct violation of the religious rights of the Lakota peoples! No amount of money will ever be able to undo the physical, psychological, and legal damage this will cause. You will deplete it for your own greed, just to flee the site and leave the Lakota peoples to deal with the consequences and mourn the loss of another sacred site. It's disgusting to see further abuse of the land and its original occupants. We are on stolen land and you have no right to it.
