Comments: Pe Sla is sacred to the Lakota and very important to us when it comes to creation stories. It's the heart of the black hills. Haven't our Lakota people been taken advantage enough in History for greed and money. To us Lakota people the land means more to us than a dollar sign. Stop exploratory drilling on land that belongs to the First Nation people of this country. Broken treaty after broken treaty and a history of betrayal is far too familiar to our people when it comes to the black hills so please let us keep that land sacred, please. What will our future generations have left of our history when every inch of land has been drilled in or put a pipeline through or developed. Some land is meant to be kept pure and untouched and that is Pe Sla.
