Comments: If you live or have traveled in between Rapid City and Black Hawk you've seen what they've done to that land. It's completely destroyed. If they find useful materials at this new location why wouldn't the same happen there? I've met Pete Lien and his wife, I had the opportunity to come and do work in their home when I worked as a tradesman. They were very nice people, but as nice as they were I couldn't help but harbor deep hatred for them knowing what they do to this place. You would think they'd have a conscience in regards to destroying the land in which they themselves live on, but it seems money is what's most important to them. I don't know a single person who lives here locally who supports or even remotely speaks positively about what the Liens business does. It's a very sad and ugly thing.
