Comments: I am writing in strong opposition of Pete Lien & Sons proposed mining project on sacred land. Digging and destroying Pe'sla would be reckless to a people and a carefully stewarded landscape, causing irreparable harm. It's insensible and short-sighted, particularly as "harm" is being redefined to eliminate protection from habitat destruction, and environmental law is being disregarded at federal levels.

The Lakota people, human rights and climate justice advocates, ecologists, organizers and attorneys agree that the state must deny permits for this project. I OPPOSE THIS PROJECT. Mining has absolutely no place on sacred land.
