Comments: Hello,

I oppose the expansion of Grand Targhee Resort. The resort is seeking to use public land to increase its profits which I do not see as within the framework of what public lands represent. I think that allowing ventures like this to take place sets a precedent for others in the future who might look towards public land for their own privately driven interests. This is not what public land is for unless targhee wants to shell out a portion of its profits to tax payers every year, I don't see it making sense. It's also wonderful land that is set aside for something other than alpine skiing. There are plenty of opportunities to ski on piste already. It is a slippery slope to continue to allow projects like this to continue to be approved. The model of public land and wilderness that is present in the western United States is unlike anything else in the world and it is the USFS job to preserve that character. I don't see how this is at all in line with that.
