Comments: Isn't the enjoyment of skiing to enjoy the beauty around you? Leave the surrounding areas alone - leave them to nature. And if it's just to test one's speed and agility, you don't need any more room than what you have to test that - again, please leave nature alone. There is enough destruction of nature, of wildlife in this world, we don't need to add to it to create extinction species. ALL people in this world depend on the ecological benefits of wildlife/nature. This world s not something that skiers and/or the well to do get to decide. I see no other reason for this expansion other than monetary profit. And only a select group of individuals will benefit. Please rethink this and leave this area alone. Thank you.
