Comments: I have several properties and a home in Teton Valley, Idaho and as such a stake in the development impacts of the GT Master Development expansion plan both in terms of the economic and commutiny impacts to Teton County, ID as well as the those on the environment and the recreational opportunities outside the resort. The DEIS report makes it clear that these impacts will be deleterious to the community, wildlife and the environment. The sole beneficiary is the resort owners. The economic burden in terms of housing, roads, traffic, ..., all fall on Idaho while the tax revenues go to Teton County, WY, whose commissioners, thankfully, have expressed opposition to the expansion as well. Development and economic expansion on our public lands that have a negative impact on the citizens who own those public lands is an anathema. I support alternative #3.
