Comments: I oppose this expansion. Do we really need another corporate ski resort in the world? Jackson Hole, Park City, Vail, Aspen, amongst many others, are just revolting places. Targhee is a very special place and the surrounding wilderness it is surrounded by. Let's not ruin more than it already has been, by allowing these corporate entities to dig in their greedy fingers. The impact on wildlife will be tragic, never mind the impact on the traffic down in the valley, which Idaho will bear the brunt of. The traffic on state highway 33 is already pretty bad at times. This will only make skiing more expensive than it already is, opening up this side country for more rich people.
