Comments: I object to the US Forest Service trying to restore, replace, or further demolish the Quonset structure that now belongs to the Mount Timpanogos Wilderness by using any technologies and methods that do not comply strictly to the Wilderness Act.

I think spending time and energy considering plans that blatantly dismiss the Wilderness Act is ludicrous and if any type of construction plan is being considered it should be a plan that adheres to the Wilderness Act's guidelines from the start. Furthermore, I don't believe there is any reason to bother doing anything at all regarding this dilapidated structure.
