Comments: I'd like to take a moment to comment on the Mt. Timpanogos wilderness area. It doesn't seem prudent to put forth energy and money into the reconstruction of the hut. It's been an interesting feature in its decay and blending with the landscape. I don't think it's necessary to rebuild it. I think it's more interesting to see it as an artifact from humans past. Kind of like a remnant from a ghost town where the imagination can take interesting turns into a decade from long ago.

Thank you,

Jeanne Martin
