Comments: I'm voicing my concern in regards to mining in the black hills. Enough damage has been done to our beautiful black hills because of mining. This explorative mining is detrimental to our ecosystem. The waterways and the wildlife will pay the cost of digging for more minerals. Why do you think we experience such drastic weather storms. It's due to all the piliging and plundering the government has been doing to our land since they first put one step on Turtle Island (North America).
