Comments: The Forest Service needs to have an environmental impact assessment done. The Mount Timpanogos Wilderness can remain wild by allowing the metal remnants of the Quonset hut to fade with time or by using wilderness-compatible means to remove it. The remaining rock and cement could be safely dismantled and allowed to fade back into the Wilderness. Nature quickly reclaims what I built by humans. The claim that it can't be dismantled (or even repaired) using traditional means is false, as the Forest Service built the hut without motorized equipment. Keep it simple please! No reason to over engineer this!
