Comments: This is one more comment to be presented in the discussion in project 60591 regarding Intermediate Dispersed Camping. I have already submitted some thoughts on this issue and greatly appreciate the opportunity to comment. I would like to add these points as you consider how to manage and continue to provide positive experience for campers. I realize that is quite a challenge given the scope of the area you manage. We were at our cabin, adjacent to the area that is being addressed in this project, this past weekend. The crowded conditions were completely crazy to say the least, and this was a non-holiday weekend. The area from the Cottonwood Lake camp ground west to 344C was absolutely beyond capacity! I counted 68 vehicles, which were just the ones I could see from the road. And there were vehicles and cars much further back into the area behind the open space. It looked like a Walmart parking lot. And as we discussed there were no fire pits, no toilets, no water to douse any fires. I took the liberty of talking with a few campers there and asked what they felt intermediate dispersed camping meant. The general response was two-fold. First, they had never heard that phrase or second if they had they felt it meant they could camp anywhere, which they did. Again I would be willing to talk with anyone regarding this issue. This has been in my mind a very precious area of Colorado and is now being over run and utilized. I want to see campers enjoy the area, but with respect for the forest and those others who want to enjoy that area also. Thanks again for the opportunity to comment.
