Comments: I am startled to learn of the Mt Hood National Forest is proposing a Late-Successional Reserve (LSR) Swap in the Lost Lake Area. I have lived on and off in Oregon for more than half of my life. I moved here in 1997, in part because I fell in love with the Cascade ecosystems. The forests and other ecosystems within Mt. Hood National Forest are precious to me. The Lost Lake area is an incredibly popular area within the national forest. Friends were up there just last weekend. No one I know was aware of this swap. I am not opposed to discussions of management changes. However, there needs to be full public involvement and transparency. Many stakeholders must be included here. I would hope this also includes Tribal consultation.
