Comments: Request to consider "aviation" and airstrip maintenance as key functions. These kind of places represent the Great Outdoors and embody the idea of freedom that America stands for. Access to backcountry aviation in the US is something that the whole world aspires to achieve but never will. We have this incredible gift where lawmakers and legislators have been able to uphold this incredible freedom for aviators to recreate and participate in outdoor activities. Inntge rest of the world access to aviation is a rich person's dream. In the USA, it is accessible to anybody with the passion and drive to pursue the dream. Having access to backcountry airstrips make flying safer, more affordable and enjoyable to an entire niche of people.

Hoping that we can continue to aviate responsibly in the backcountry.
