Comments: I would like to express concern about the logging of so-called Canyon Forest. This should not in any way be called a restoration project - the FS own documents note that these forests, some of which have never been clearcut, supports great diversity of species, age, and habitat structure, and that logging will degrade 1,988 acres of habitat. How can there be a decision to log this when the FS own assessments declare that it will degrade the habitat and adversely affect the range of federally listed endangered species? This is irresponsible for our ecosystems and the timber industry. If the FS is to follow the Endangered Species Act, Clean Water Act and the National Forest Management Act, there is absolutely no way to go ahead with this project.
