Comments: As someone who has grown up in Troy and has spent a lot of time in the Upper Bunk project area, the area in and all around it are in desperate need of serious treatment before a wildfire comes through and completely wipes it out. It is sad to see how miss managed the area has been for many years due to groups such as the Yaak Valley Forest Council doing nothing but fighting to stop every project that the USFS tries to put up. I have been around logging my whole life, and started working in the logging industry since shortly after finishing high school. There has been many times I've thought of switching careers due to the simple fact that there is not enough management of federal lands going on around the community, to keep the few loggers that are left working and supporting their families. Projects like the Upper Bunk project can greatly help keep the industry alive while at the same time, treating the desperately needed project areas.

I strongly support the Upper Bunk project.
