Comments: Unbelievable

Your justification for this project is patently misguided and, I'd have to say, criminally misleading.

Your actions here will have no benefit and actually make just about everything worse.

Forests are well suited to taking care of themselves. Mal-adapted trees die, provide habitat, eventually fall over and enrich the under story. Research has shown overwhelming evidence that clear cuts actually increase the danger of fire by allowing sun and warmth and wind down to the forest floor, drying it and the adjacent forest and making it more combustible. Healthy trees left standing (as if you are capable of identifying a 'healthy tree') find themselves exposed to a new environment of heat and unfettered wind and often fall.

Your plan to essentially destroy this important habitat linking Glacier Park to adjacent wild lands should offend everyone. I hope you're getting an earful from the public who you have purposely kept in the dark.

You know this is wrong. Show some backbone and stand up against your moronic overlords in DC.
