Comments: This project infringes on the Oceti Sakowin and all indigenous peoples right to be able to practice their religion in this country. Freedom of religion is one of the founding tenants that our country was built on. By disturbing religious sites of indigenous people we are just creating one more way that we have discriminated against and abused indigenous peoples in our country. Also, the environmental impacts of this project affect the communities around them of both people and animals. Water is necessary for life and these mining activities could threaten that. I strongly oppose this project.
