Comments: I strongly oppose the October Jinx project as the impacts of such extensive and deep drilling at Craven Canyon will be profound. Drilling activities will be noisy, precipitate long-term land disturbance, and result in waste that that will harm both human and non-human life in the region. Additionally, permitting drilling at Craven Canyon restricts the right to religious freedom for the Oceti Sakowin and will disturb rock art and other artifacts of great ceremonial and archaeological importance. The October Jinx project will wholly violate the Forest Service's stated mission to care for the land and serve the people and should not be moved forward.
