

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 2/20/2026 9:39:00 PM

First name: Cindy

Last name: Wyatt

Organization:

Title:

Comments: With all the science behind the climate change issues it as incomprehensible that we are continuing to cut down our old growth forest. Walk out into a forest on a cold windy day, you will immediately feel warmer. Walk into a forest on a hot sunny day, you will feel cooler. Forests are key for mitigating temperatures. To bad there are not many left to help us with our earthly weather systems.

Old growth forests cradle a huge diversity of plant and animal life. Here on Prince of Wales island we have seen widespread logging of our remaining old growth forests and I deer for the deer populations not being able to find food in the deep snow of new clearings that used to be rich in plant food.