Comments: NDN Collective provided the polite words for this comment which will follow my comments which are less polite.

My comment: I realize you're under pressure from the monsters now ruling the country, but you need to realize that if you don't protect the habitat of both humans and nonhumans, your grandchildren will despise you, no matter how much blood money you leave them. They will find out what you did or didn't do during the regime. And you, your selves are monstrous in your complicity with the fascists.

Here are NDN Collective's polite reasons not to mine this land:

Project Dangers:

Mining projects threaten to poison the water we all drink, while leaving us with a devastated landscape and economy.

- 17 drill holes, each hole up to 500-700 feet deep into the aquifer

- Each hole is a potential conduit of pollution to the watershed, forever

- 24-hour lights, noise, and dust, 5-7 days a week

- Loss of recreational, historical, and ceremonial lands

- Clear-cutting of trees and vegetation at each of the 17 drill pads

- Toxic drilling mud pits are full of barium

- Violation of Tribal treaty rights, religious freedom

- The people of the ?e Sápa have made their opposition to mining projects in their backyard clear
