Comments: I am a concerned citizen. The project threatens critical carbon storage, wildlife habitat, and salmon-producing watersheds. Old-growth forests in the Tongass store more carbon than any other national forest in the U.S. and provide habitat for species including deer, wolves, black bears, and marten. The cost will be greater to humans and animals/flora than the benefits it is projected to bring in. Keep the greater good a priority rather than a short term profit for a narrow margin.
