Comments: How will the self permit process work? I want to have the freedom to decide to float the river on a whim, sometimes from my off-grid property in Polebridge, where I don't have access to the internet nor would I be willing to drive to a separate location to register. Would this be like portions of the Salmon River In Idaho where a paper slip for self-permit is filled out at the launch location?

Please consider a required online river etiquette course yearly for participants. I just got an OHV permit for Utah for the year, had to pay $30 (which i would absolutely be happy to do for our river system), amd had to watch videos on trail etiquette and nature preservation to receive the permit. This could be very applicable for our wild and scenic river preservation.

I think limiting sandbar vehicle camping is a great idea- let's keep vehicular fluids out of the river, and focus on designated camping areas for camping. Also limiting noise like drones and loud music. Please continue to limit commercial permits particularly on the North Fork - it detracts from the wild and scenic experience
