Comments: This is a simple request to put the health of the Tongass Forest ecology before any human desire for more lumber. The value of old growth forests, vibrant salmon streams and valuable watersheds which sustain intact wildlife communities surpasses a short term clear cut of some trees. The recreation and sustainable tourism economies working now and in the future will cease to exist if people choose not to pay to travel to Southeast Alaska hoping for intact forests, wildlife and wild places and instead see what already exists outside of the Tongass.
