

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/4/2026 3:30:51 PM

First name: Alexander

Last name: Regner

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The sawtooth national forest is the most beautiful place in Idaho. Mining will destroy the land and tarnish Idaho's gem. Mining is not reversible and the process for restoration can take hundreds of years. Mining runoff positions the surrounding area, and destroys further land for decades to come. This is the best case scenario, assuming Mining companies follow regulations.