

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/10/2026 11:34:09 PM

First name: Susan

Last name: Michetti

Organization:

Title:

Comments: As there appears to be serious concerns about the healthful integrity of this forest, I ask you to study the number of days when foggy skies high up in the stratosphere was blocking the full quality of the healing sunlight with its all important UV rays and infrared rays and near infrared rays and red spectrum light, because all life forms require full sunlight on most days for proper health and survival. This is part of the life cycle where the vegetation, mostly green as trees, shrubs, plants, crops, breathes in carbon dioxide and breathes out oxygen for the animal and human side to breathe in oxygen and to breathe out carbon dioxide.

The sunlight is required for the health of the green vegetation including trees, but there needs to be a formal investigation into who's anti-scientific climate change philosophy might be causing the forests to get sick with parasites that only come to attack the trees in the forest due to the lack of proper sunlight combined with the presence of things recorded and often measured as being spray in geoengineering over the forests and over the people's property and over whatever which is, in fact, harming the forests by causing them to eventually become brown and when somebody starts a fire in the forest, the fire goes out of control and burns down everything. The trees have uptaken heavy metals, usually aluminum, strontium, cadmium; these are toxins for the forests that normally are not exposed to these things. The fake story of climate change came from Rockefeller's Rio de Janeiro conference in I think it was 1986 where all the scientists dismissed it as unscientifically supported and two scientists wrote that in science journals about this conference. This is the owner of Monsanto who took on Bill Gates as a partner and the face of Monsanto likely just after he got rich from Microsoft.

I do not feel it is a coincidence that trees get sick and take a while to start dying when the deep sky blue sky is never that sky blue color anymore due to the stratosphere being constantly sprayed with heavy metals and often biological parasites by whomever. There are several videos on the internet where Bill Gates is telling the world that he is funding the blocking of the sun in the US by spraying so much crap into the upper stratosphere that the sunlight mostly can't get through for the plants and animals who need full spectrum sun especially in complete red spectrum including infrared and near infrared that enables molds to stop spreading and dry up.

I ask you to reach out to Dane Wigington for his expert advice if this forest has been damaged by chemtrails and what scientific samples need to be collected and tested in the forest to scientifically measure what is causing the sickness in the forest. He can be contacted at his website which I believe is Geoengineering.com or that will bring his website up in the same search.