Comments: In this post trump world, it's almost o possible to write a fully researched response to the endless assaults on our public lands, forests, ocean monuments, oceans, sanctuaries and wildlife refuges. So I can't' but I have seen the " presidents' ideas concerning forest manager and they are truly insane. Cutting down forests is not the way to prevent forest fires and anyone wanting to understand the diverse reasons that clear cutting is dangerous should look to George Weurthner's numerous essays on this subject. My response is no to cutting any of the forest down for commercial purposes or otherwise. No no no and that I am appalled to think of the environmental wreckage this administration is causing by greenlighting projects like this.
