Comments: I am NOT in favor of any action that involves harvesting old growth forests or building roads through such forests. It's lamentable that the USDA Forest Service is committed to generating as much money as possible from forests on public lands. Surely, somewhere deep in the charter of the Forest Service is something about protecting forests rather than viewing them as a source of income. Old growth forests once gone cannot be replaced quickly. It's a sad legacy of the Trump administration that natural resources are viewed as sources of income for a handful of businesses and have no intrinsic value in themselves.
