Comments: The BCC mitigation and remediation plan seems admirably well thought out and incorporates a range of site-specific activities. Careful supervision will be the key as will continuing public relations activities to insure public support a long-term project that will unavoidably seem destructive and disruptive in the long term. An escaped controlled burn must be considered an unacceptable event. A healthy forest environment in the BCC and throughout the Wasatch is of irreplaceable value to the health, safety and enjoyment of the people of the Salt Lake valley.
