Comments: To who it concerns, I am a resident of Oregon and a hiker of the Mt Hood area. This proposed project concerns me as I do not want to see the area loved by myself and many others stripped for profit. There is a claim that it is an emergency area needing to be addressed, but if that is the case it must be an IMMEDIATE risk to human health and I just don't see from any of the specialist reports given that this is the case. In fact the botanist's reports claim that not enough time was even given for an assessment! If this truly is an emergency are the proposed actions really even going to achieve relief from these claims? Does commercial thinning really fit under these categories of emergency? I just don't see a clear necessity to cut these forests. It feels like a cash grab, I am highly opposed. Especially at a time when we NEED our forests for our climate and wellbeing. Thank you for your time.
