Comments: As in the past the activity of mining is not appropriate for this area. This area is special for its recreational value and any activity that can potentially threatened it's primary use should be banned. I see the effects of mining gone wrong every day with the Beal mine debacle. The same could easily happen with this proposed project. We, the public, were told the Beak mine was safe. No chance of failure and the bond would take care of any problems. How many years and millions later are we still living with short sighted views??

The recreational value of this area for generations to come far outweighs 42 years of mining.
