Comments: Please listen to the science. As an environmental science major who considers rewilding and restoring our forests, this chills me to the bone. It is antithetical to logic to do such a thing. Please listen to Dr. Brian Moench of Utah Physicians for A Healthy Environment when he explains why these methods are the opposite of what is needed, and dense forests protect us from fires and natural disasters, as well as preserve our most precious resources. Nature is not for us to destroy. Revelations 11:18 Those who destroy the Earth will be utterly destroyed. This is actually a metaphysical law as well. The Sun, our behavior in a birth chart, shows if we are destructive that will be what the health of our heart will be and our consciousness itself. As that is the Sun itself. God will not be mocked. Listen to the wise. Life is short for those with reckless impulses. No more pollution. No more destruction. Add, not subtract, from our beautiful state. Keep Utah wild. Thank you.
