Comments: I am extremely opposed to any actions that increase air pollution along the Wasatch Front. Our air quality is consistently some of the worst in the world, multiple times a year. Thinning our precious forests with burns that could easily spread to larger wildfires (given the MASSIVE HISTORIC DROUGHT Utah is in) is not only abysmal for our air, but is so dangerously stupid it brings me to tears. Adding herbicides on top of that that will poison our soil and our water ways that we rely on for our drinking water is chemical warfare to a population that is already being told to conserve our precious water, when corporations are still allowed to do whatever they please with water from the Great Salt Lake. Please do not do this to us. Utahns want climate justice, we want water, we want clean air and we want our beautiful natural and wild spaces to stay that way. Do not do this. Please. I am just one person, but if you speak to ordinary people about this, the VAST majority will be against this. If you doubt that claim, look at how the proposed data center project has united Utahns of all backgrounds and political leanings.
