Comments: I oppose the Big Cottonwood Canyon project.

Big Cottonwood has many hiking trails. If a burn pile gets out of control, you will endanger hikers. Additionally, these burn piles will cause further air pollution. We are already choking on smoke here in Salt Lake County, we don't need any more.

Additionally, the herbicide use will kill many native plants. Glyphosate is also a known carcinogen, and again, there are many hiking trails where people might be exposed to this dangerous chemical.

These pollutants will also likely fall into the creek which provides fresh drinking water to the people of Salt Lake County. Do not pollute our water! We already have very little, and even less if more data centers are built.

Additionally, this feels like a way to slash and burn land for developers, as Senator Mike Lee attempted to sell lands within the canyon. Do not damage our canyon!
