Comments: Research shows that burning the forest, even if it's controlled does more damage than good. It seems every day the air quality in the state gets worse and worse. Maybe it's time that we actually follow research and science and not go against it. These prescribed burns you are considering in Cottonwood Canyon you're planning to do over 10 years will do more damage than good. Air from fires is one of the worst not only the environment but also humans. Please do not move forward with this ridiculous plan. It has come to a very difficult decision after living here my whole life that I will probably be moving because I am tired of this state not giving a crap about its beautiful nature, environment, and people.

Thank you, Tricia
