Comments: I appreciate the opportunity to comment on the Roby Forest Management Project. I live in the Black Hills and hike in the hills often, and I value the kind of wild natural experience you can only get in areas like this. Our community is reliant on the aesthetics/recreational opportunities/lifestyle/quality of life provided by prudent management and conservation of these areas.

I have been disappointed with the appearance of landscape in logging areas in the past, I suggest a very strict approach to logging in these regions and/or not opening these areas up to logging.
