Comments: The USFS is obviously being bombarded with negative feedback by people who live in the area. We have lived in Edwards for about 20 years and in Colorado for many more. As you well know, local residents often want to keep their environs unchanged and will say almost anything to do that. In my view it's a narrow, selfish attitude. Others in the state deserve to enjoy the Sweetwater area, not only the few dozen people who own property there. I wonder how many are part-timers from out of state? Too much of our backcountry is already off-limits. Please keep ALL the citizens of Colorado in mind when making your decision.
